Inked Resist Tutorial

The image just pops off the page with this technique.

Supplies:

- Two Dye or Distress Inks
- Stamping Sponges
- Post-It Notes
- Bold or Mostly Bold Stamp
- Script or Worn-style Background Stamp
- White or Vanilla Cardstock
- White Craft Ink/VersaMark Ink
- White Embossing Powder
- Heat Tool (not pictured)

Step One:

Stamp the image in the center of the white/neutral cardstock. Cover with embossing powder, remove excess and heat emboss.

Step Two:

Adhere Post-It Notes to the top and bottom of the cardstock, leaving the center uncovered. Place the Post-It Notes with an even border on the top and bottom of the cardstock.

Step Four:

Load one of the sponges with the lightest color ink. Sponge over the image, pressing ink around and into the crevices of the image.

Step Six:

Using the same color ink, rub the sponge over the remainder of the exposed area. Use a lighter touch than the ink application in Step Four.

Step Three:

Apply Post-It Notes to the two sides, with border sizes matching the top and bottom borders.

Step Five:

Using the same color ink, rub the sponge over the remainder of the exposed area. Use a lighter touch than the ink application in Step Four.

Step Seven:

Ink the background stamp with the darker ink.

Step Eight:

Stamp the image over the entire exposed area, pressing firmly. It is fine if the background does not cover the area completely. Immediately wipe excess ink off the white embossed areas.

Step Nine:

Remove the Post-It Notes, mat and embellish as desired.
